DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1 to 3 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

No clear antecedent basis is found for "the bending section" in line 3 or "the neck section" in line 5 of Claim 1, or for "the actually necessary shearing strength" in Claim 3. Furthermore "least metal material" and "highest structural strength" in the last two lines of Claim 1 are relative and speculative terms which fail to define the invention such that one could determine when infringement would occur.

Claims 2 and 3 are for a method; however, no active process steps are set forth which would define a method.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 1 to 3, as understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Ash.

Head 2 and shank 3 of the Figure 1 spoke are formed by endwise upsetting (compression). Ash advises that this portion of the spoke accordingly has added strength. See page 1, lines 91 to 96. To perform the upsetting in more than one step would be an obvious expedient to one skilled in the art depending on the desired dimensions of the product and the material characteristics of the stock, and not a patentable distinction absent a disclosure of criticality in the solution of stated problems with the provision of a particular number of forming steps and product dimensions.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Norris et al. further shows the state of the art.
